LOSSES LESS THAN AT FIRST REPORTED. OCCUPANTS OF THE BUILDING MAKING INVENTO-RIES.

RIES.

Two engines stood in Vandewater-st. all day yesterday busily engaged in pumping the water out of the cellars of the Munro Building. The street in front of the building was impassable as a thoroughfare. Piles of pamphlets and printed matter lay in the roadway, and on either hand two streams of water were thrown out by theen gine and formed small rivers in which the children of the grammar school near by disported themselves. The building itself did not, except in the matter of broken windows, show much signs of the fire. The damage had been done at too great a height to be noticeable unless one craned his neck back and looked up. The business men who had their factories and offices in the building were on the ground at an early hour in the morning, making an inventory of their losses. These in the majority of instances could only be guessed at, as the marks of smoke and the superabundance of dripping water every where made the have appear greater than it may actually be ascertained to be.

bundance of dripping water everywhere made the navoe appear greater than it may actually be ascertained to be.

Looking from the back windows of the sixth floor of the Rose-st. building into the Vandewater-st. house, the extent of the fire could be easily ascertained. The fireproof walls of the Rose-st. building kept the flames entirely confined to the older structure. Here the sixth, seventh and eighth stories were totally gutted and the fifth story was almost destroyed. On the eighth floor fir, Munro had ten catalogue presses, four "Seaside Library" presses, two folding-machines, and one cutting-machines, and one cutting-machines, and one cutting-machine. All these were totally destroyed, but being old, were not worth more than $30,000; they were uninsured. On the same fleor the flub Publishing Company lost stock worth $25,000, insured for $15,000. The loss to Mr. Munro in stock on the seventh floor was $5,000, uninsured; to the Clay Novelty Company, $5,000—nunsured. The loss to Lovejoy, Son & Co. on the sixth floor in machine-shep and foundry, was $35,000; insured for $15,000. On the fifth floor, A. Anderson, printer, loses $8,000—insured for full amount; the Vulcanite Jewsler Company loses $12,000—insurance not known. On the fourth floor John Medole, printer, aloses $8,000—insured for full amount; the Vulcanite Jewsler Company loses $12,000—insurance not known. On the fourth floor John Medole, printer, aloses $8,000, chiefly damaged by water—uninsured; the New-York Screw Top Company loses $15,000. On the third floor E. C. Tominson loses $3,000, chiefly damaged by water—uninsured; the New-York Screw Top Company loses $1000, and H. Cheroney, $2,000. On the first floor C. A. Lieb, machinist, loses $600, and The Witness $500, unsured to resume work this week in the Rose st. building the damage was entirely through water and smoke and cannot yet be ascertained. The heaviest losers, George Munro, and Lovejoy, Son & Company, both expect to resume work this week in the Rose st. building wall not reach much above $1 a fire drift corps among a wallable in case of fire.

The building which fronts on Rose-st. was built in 1880, and is a fireproof structure. The brick walls are about two feet thick, the floors are supported by brick arches between iron beams, and filled in with concrete and all the window-sashes and staircases are of iron. The loors were of heavy ash and lined on both sides with 1-16 inch iron. Through the doors opening into the hall the firemen forced an entrance by cutting away a section of the brick wall large enough to carry away the fasteniogs of the lock bolts. The work was laborious and by the time the fremen succeeded in getting inside the rooms the fire was raging too fiercely to permit effective work to be done from the interior. The fire entered the building on the sixth floor only, and then through a door between the old and new buildings, which had been opened by the firemen for the purpose of bringing hose to play into the burning rooms. On the floor above the ash filling of the doors was charred to a cinder and the iron was bent, but the door proved to be an effectual barrier to the flames. The contents of the room consisted of printed matter piled on board shelves. A portion of this was burded and all of it damaged by smoke, but the floor was unburt and the building itself received merely trifling damage.

THE SUICIDE OF DR. PAICHEN.

It was believed vesterday that the suicide of Dr. Milligan Patchen, at No. 427 East Fr tieth-st., was caused by temporary maanity. He had complained for about three weeks of severe headache, resulting from hard study. He had been graduated with the highest honors from the Believue Medical College and he expected to be appointed surgeon in Bellevue Hospital on October 1. He was only twenty-two years old. His father was the late A. D. Patchen, of Buffalo, N. Y., owner of several steamboats. A sister of his father is the wife of ex-Lieutenant-Governor Dorsheimer. The young physician, it was said, had prospects of weath and success in his chosen profession, and there was no reason why he should wish to committationed. After his appointment as a physician of the S...mer Corps, he worked hard in the hot weather. His body remained at the boarding-house in Fifteeth-st. yesterday, awaiting the arrival of his mother and sister.

THE FORGED MISSOURI BONDS CASE.

Justice Smith yesterday, in the Tombs Police Court, continued his examination in the case of the three men charged with forging certificates of indebtedness of the State of Missouri. Statements were made by the complainant, James Kirk, and Isaac W. Biggs, who sold Kirk the alleged worthless bonds. The latter state that he received the certificates from a man named Wallace, a broker, who was to pay him a commission for negotiating a sale of them. He showed them, he said, to Mr. Kirk, who agreedto pay him one-half of 1 per cent for all he could procure. A few days prior to his arrest, the witness added, he met Kirk, who told him that the securities were worthicss and returned them to him. These, the witness said, he handed to Mr. Wallace, from whom he was to receive the money paid for them. He intended to restore the money to the complainant, but before he had an opportunity to get the money he was arrested and has since been unable to see Mr. Wallace. The further hearing was adjourned until Wednesday, when the case will propably be determined by the magistrate. THE FORGED MISSOURI BONDS CASE.

A SUNDAY ALTERCATION IN BROOKLYN.

Martin and John W. Kelly, liquor dealers at No.

On Sunday Mr. Daniels saw three little girs entering the side door of Kelly's dramshop. He remonstrated with Myrtin Kelly, saying that it was not right to sell liquor to chitoren under fourteen years of age. He was told it was none of his business, and in the ensuing dispute Mr. Daniels received a black eye and Martin Kelly a cut on the head, while John Kelly had two cuts on the face, evidently inflicted with a cane which Mr. Daniels carried. The latter asserted that he did not strike until he had been struck. The Kellys said that the children lived over their slop and were on their way home, and that Mr. Daniels insuited them and struck the first blow. HANS MAKART'S PAINTING IN THE CITY. DESCRIPTION OF THE . CANVAS-TO BE EXHIBITE

HANS MAKART'S PAINTING IN THE CITAL DESCRIPTION OF THE CANVAS—TO BE EXHIBITED BY MR. RANKER.

James H. Banker, of Irvington, while in Vienna in 1880, bought Hans Makart's large painting. "Diana's Hunting Party." When Mr. Banker became the owner of the picture it was still on the artist's easel. On June 26 of this year it arrived in this city on the steamship Donau, of the North German Lloyd's Line. Mr. Banker received it on July 1, but owing to the tardiness of the Custom House officials, who have not appraised the picture, it yet remains in the iron-bound packing-box in which it was sent to this country. A second case contains, the frame which was around the canvas when it was exhibited by the artist in Loodon, Vienna and Berlin.

The picture measures 29 feet 6 inches in length, by 13 feet 1 inch in height, The frame is 32 feet by 15 feet. It is one of the largest works of Hans Makart, and Mr. Banker considers it the artist's materpiece. The fourteen figures in the picture are larger than life-size. Through a dark background of trees and tangled underbrush, the blue sky is visible, without a cloud to dim the sunlight which falls upon the water of a lake in the foreground. With head thrown back and antiers all but striking his shoulders, stands a stag in the midst of the lake, with the water rippling about him. He is fleeing for bis life, for Diana and her huntresses have followed the hounds that have brought the stag to water. On the summit of a precipitous bank stands the Goddess, glowing with the excitement of the chase and drawing her purple robe about her limbs. In her hand is a hunting spear already poised, but she motions her maidens to stay their hands. A nymph in blue stands at her left, eager to send an arrow at the fleeing stag, and on her right are grouped five other huntresses. On the borders of the lake stands a seventh figure holding two straining hounds in the leash. Seven water nymphs implores the relenting Dana for mercy. Near the hounds as wat the fleening and on her right are grouped five ot picture was $35,000. Mr. Banker told a TRIBUNE reporter yesierday that the amount for which it was purchased was much less, but declined to say what it was. While he was in Vienna Mr. Banker became personally acquainted with Makart and, as the artist was in need of money to satisfy one of his many extravagant fancies, Mr. Baker obtained the painting for much less than he otherwise would have done. At present there are only two other pictures by Makart in the country; one is owned by Judge Hilton—the other by Miss Catherine Wolfe.

HOVEY MORE HOPEFUL. EFFORTS TO POSTPONE THE FATAL DAY

The General Term of the Supreme Court will meet to-day to pass upon the appeal of Messis. Kintzing and Grady from the decision of Judge Donoline, who refused to exant a motion for a new trial for Edward Hovey, the condemned murderer. Mr. Kintzing said yesterday that he would probably start for Albany to-morrow evening to see the Governor and ask him to respite Hovey until October. The Court of Appeals will meet on the first Monday in October, and if the decision of the General Term is adverse to Hovey, his counsel will carry the case to the Court of Appeals. Meanwhile the Sheriff will be in an unpleasant position unless the Governor comes to his relief and respites the condemned man. The counsel for Hovey say that their appeal from Judge Donohue's decision should of itself operate as a stay of proceedings. The Sheriff does not so construct the law, and is proceeding with preparations for the execution of Hovey on Friday next. He holds that he has no choice in the matter. He says that he has been directed to hing Hovey on a certain date, the efforts of the condemned man's counsel to procure a stay have been refused, and unless the Governor interferes, or the General Term orders a new trial, he has no alternative but to hang Hovey. Any other course, the Sheriff asserts, would render him liable to impeachment and removal.

The eleven prisoners who were arrested Sunday night for fighting and creating a 1101 on the excursion of the Davit Rides from Jersey City to Linden Grove, were arraigned before Police Justice Davis in Jersey City vesterday morning un formal charges of being disorderly persons and fightives from justice. There was no one present in court to press the charges and the prisoners were remanded for further examination. Afterward two officers from Staten Island arrived in Jersey City with warrants for the arrest of all the prisoners on a charge of rioting, but the men refused to go to Staten Island witnent a requisition, and the officers went back to report to the District-Attorney of Richmond County.

Detilef Heintzof Travisville, S.L., who was an eyewitness of most of the rioting in the grove, was brought np yesterday afternoon for the purpose of identifying the prisoners, but he was anable or airaid to identify any of them. He said that he had seen the soldiers and other men lighting everywhere in the grove and had run to the top of a hill to get out of danger. The notel in the grove, kept by a man named Duprez, was sacked; everything in it was either broken or carried away, and the money drawer was robbed. Duprez is reluctant to make any complaint, as he was violating the law himself by keeping open on Sunday. The Staten Island police expect to be able to procare evidence enough to convicual the prisoners. No one was killed in the disturbance, but two or three of the brawlers were seriously injured.

THE CIGARMAKERS AND MANUFACTURERS. A PROPOSITION THAT THE WORKMEN REFUSED TO ACCEPT.

The efforts which were made yesterday by the cigar manufacturers to bring about an agreement with the strikers were unsuccessful. As it had been announced that the Progressive Union had shown signs of weakening in the position it had taken in regard to the lock-out, it was expected that it would be willing to accede to any proposition which might be made by the employers. The action of the union, however, showed that it still adhered to the determination to continue the lock-out until the "scabs" in the Ottenbergs' shop are discharged.

The Manufacturers' Association had been in session at the Belvedere House only a short time when a committee of workmen, members of the International Union, and employes in the Ottenbergs' shop, presented their side of the strike. They stated that a committee of workmen, memoers of the international Union, and employes in the Ottenbergs' shop, they had sided with their fellow-workmen in the previous troubles which had come up in the shop. When the workmen who were members of the Progressive Union had been discharged a few weeks ago, their dismissal had been attributed to them. Although they had protested against the truth of the charge their statement was not believed by the union men and as an additional insuit they were called "scabs." The manufacturers said they were satsified with their explanation and the committeemen then withdrew. They had hardly left the hotel when a committee from the Progressive Union came to have a conference with the manufacturers.

After a general discussion of the situation, the manufacturers submitted the following proposition in

The committee from the Progressive Union after listening to the proposition retired for consultation, but returned in a few minutes and announced its refusal to accept the proferer terms.

"When we met the manufacturers on Saturday we made no such admissions as are stated in their paper," said Mr. Woytiseck to a TRIBUNE reporter.

"They put ideas into that statement which we did not advance and cannot enteriain. You may depend upon it we shall not go back to the factories until those men are discharged. We shall submit a proposition to the manufacturers to-morrow. If they accept it, well and good; If not then the strike will be continued. We have received voluntary contributions to the amount of $4,000 and expect to obtain as much more before the end of the week."

The Executive Committee of the locked-out members of the Progressive Union issued a statement to the labor organizations of the city. It recounts the causes which led to the strike, and concludes with an appeal to workingment at large to sustain the members of the union in their fight for a principle which should be maintained at any cost.

SMALL SHOT EXCHANGED FOR STONES. CANAL BOATMAN SHOOTS BOYS WHO HAD STONE HIM.

A canal-beat approached a point on the Morris Canal at the seuthern limits of Paterson, N. J., where the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Rairond crosses the canal on a bridge, yesterday, between 2 and 3 p. m. The boat was in charge of Captain James Campbell and Thomas Hough, both colored men. In the water under and about the bridge a large crowd of young men and boys were swimming, and on the banks and the bridge a number more were iding about bandying words with the swimmers. When the canal-boat came near the bridge some persons in the crowd began to revile the men on the boat, and, the captain says, some stones were thrown at him and Hough by persons on shore. Hough warned the boys to stop their abuse and stone-throwing, but they persisted. He then rushed down to the cabin, got a double-barrelled shot-gun, took aim at the crowd and fired.

There were cries of pain, and it was found that two boys, William and Joseph Farrell, brothers, living at No. 151 Pine-st., had been shot in the face. The negro, seeing the mischief he had done, jumped off the boat and ran in the direction of West Paterson, the crowd, by this time greatly excited, in hot seem. The boys who had been shot ran down the towpith, with bloods reaming from their faces, to John Murtagh's store, where they told their story, and the police were sent for by telephone. Hough, meanwhile, had got as far as the high bridge over the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, two or three miles west of Paterson, where he was found by two men, William Toker and James Brechin, hiding in some bushes. He begged them not to hurt him, and to save him from the angry crowd who were following. Hough's captors secured a wagon, hurried their prisoner into it, and, distancing a number of excited men who seemed bent on getting their handson the prisoner, took him to the station-bouse at Paterson. He was locked up in a cell, and in an hour or two the two injured toys appeared and made complaints against him before the Recorder, and he was committed to jail.

The injuries of the boys are painful, but not dan The injuries of the boys are paintal, our not say agrous, their faces and heads being well perpeted with small shot. It is reported that another boy was struck by a few of the shot, but he did not make any charge. Hough did not deny the shooting, but said that it was done in self-defence, as his life was in danger from the stones hurled upon the boat. The Farrell boys say that stones were thrown the bridge but that they were under the boat. The Farrell boys say that stones were thrown from the bridge, but that they were under the bridge and did not throw any. The story told by some ever-witnesses is that some persons in the crowd asked the boatmen for a ride, and that when this was refused the retting and stone-throwing began. Alderman John Mallon, who has charge of the section of the canal in which the affair took piace, says that the boatmen on the canal are afraid to pass through Paterson on account of the rowdy ison of the crowds that through the banks, and that their lives are constantly in danger from the stones thrown at them.

Two young laborers, John Baily and Francis Krispiset, quarrelled in their boarding-house, at No. 194 East third-st., yesterday, and Baily had his nose flattened by a blow with a shovel. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital for treatment. Krispiset was arrested. NO TROUBLE WITH THE OPERA HOUSE.

The published report that trouble had arisen be-tween the Building Department and the builders of the new Opera House was denied yesterday by Inspector Esterbrook, who expressed the opinion that the building would be as safe as any in the HELD FOR SHOOTING RIS WIFE.

Joseph M. Steinbauer, of No. 442 West Thirty-fifth-st, was taken from the Roosevelt Hospital to the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday to answer charges of shooting his sixteen-year-old wife on the 12th inst. and then attempting suicide. Jus-tice Ford neid him in $1,000 bail for trial.

The Brooklyn Nursery Association is about to erect a new building for a children's home, in Herkimer-st., near Kingston-ave., to cost $30,000. Suits for absolute divorces have been begun by Charles F. Battenberg against Mrs. Louise Batten-berg, and by Mrs. Louise Richardson against Lem-uel S. Richardson.

Timothy Rvan, of No. 115 Walcott-st. lying in a hammock on Sunday afternoon, fell about two feet, striking his head on a stone pavement and fracturing his skull. He died yesterday.

A motion was made vesterday in the suit of Cap-tain C. C. Duncan against The New-York Times for $100,000 as damages for alleged libel, to have a portion of the complaint stricken out as irrelevant and redundant. Decision was reserved.

charles Clement, of No. 61 Front-st., who was sent to the Penitentiary for four months for heating his wife, on June 26, and who was released by Judge Clement last week, was again before Justice Walsh yesterday for beating his wife, and was sent to the Penttentiary for three months. F. R. Smith has begun a smit to recover $5,000 as damages for injuries received in a collision with Charles McCrory in the Ocean Parkway on May 12. Both men own fast horses and were driving in opposite directions at the time of the collision. McCrory has begun a cross suit to recover $10,000 as damages from Smith for the injuries which he received in the collision.

Complaint has been made by the street cleaning contractor of the obstruction caused in his work by the market wagons of the farmers which stand in Fulton-st, between Sands-st, and the ferry. The City Works Commissioner has directed an examination of the reported obstruction. As there is no public market in Brooklyn, the use of the street in the early morning hours by the farmers is a public convenience.

The City Tax Board and County Board of Assess

The City Tax Board and County Board of Assessors met yesterday and fixed the tax rate for 1883. The county rate was placed at 68 cents and the city rate at $1 38, a total for Newark of $2 06 which is a reduction from last year's rate—$2.44—of 38 cents on $100. The decrease is due to increased valuation of nearly $5,000,000 in the county, of which nearly $4,000,000 represents an advance in Newark property; to the absence of a State tax, remetions in the appropriations and other causes.

Judge McCarter yesterday sentenced a truck-driver to the penitentiary for six months for obstructing a horse-car and assaulting the driver of the car. The judge admonished the prisoner that the street-cars had the right of way, that there was too much of the practice of delaying street-cars by obstinate drivers of vehicles, and the traveling public suffered by it. He added that when a man did this and assaulted a car-driver he might surely expect to be sent to prison.

POOR BABY. It was a delicate little thing anyhow, pale, puny and poerly neutrahed. They had given it candides and cakes, and fed in ou numbolesome milk. Is it any wonder that the child has summer complaint! To this feeble and perishing infast were given tiny doses of Perry Davis's Pain Killer, a few drops at a time in a little water. A goutle stimulus was thus bestowed on the seffering stomach. The sick child began to revive and to gain strength. Poor baby is saved, and there are thousands of sick babies this summer who may be saved in the same way.

and the direct bearing which it has on human happines, a thoroughly recognized; its uses and the danger of overtaxing it, whether through intense mental application or by the excessive induigence of the appetites and propensities, are proper subjects for consideration. When the nervous system is deranged, it is absolutely necessary to promptly seek advice from an expert who, for a long series of years, has devoted his whole time and attention to this study, and who, from his experience and practice, has learned to discover at once the cause and as promptly apply the remedy, thus avoiding the painfully slow seeking for the truth so common to the inexperienced, and so aunoying to the patient, who very naturally wants to know without delay what is the matter, the extent of the derangement, the probabilities of recuperation and the time required. and the direct bearing which it has on human happiness

If the brain has become exhausted by intense mental application, depriving it of the power of connected thought, is can only recover its strength by being properly fed and nourished by the use of certain systematic methods. It is pre-cisely the same with the nerves that preside over organic life. The value of this branch of medical practice can scarce by be overrated, for it reaches marriage, the perpetuation of

From a long and large experience in this direction, I have been able to command by my success the thankful appreciation of some of the first families of the city and Nation, and can communicate much that pertains to the over-exercise of every department of the nervons system and the means of the communicate which is not to be a properties. recovering its power, whether of brain, appetite, propensity or passion.
